Little Round Top

Gettysburg, Pennsylvania / July 2, 1863

The detached flank guard

Morrill’s Company B watches from a stone wall, separated from the main Union line.

The climb through the rocks

Oates’s Alabama infantry climbs through broken ground. The slope helps explain why a simple wheel was hard to execute.

AI reconstruction • Clothing, stonework, exact positions and group sizes are inferred.

Morrill’s account • NPS landscape report, fig. 4.13 Oates’s report • August 8, 1863

Concord’s North Bridge

Concord, Massachusetts / April 19, 1775

Approach from the muster field

Acton’s minute company leads the provincial column toward the river. The officers have yet to order a volley.

Return fire at the crossing

A provincial volley answers British fire. Powder smoke makes the far bank harder to read.

AI reconstruction • Bridge carpentry, clothing and the distribution of smoke are illustrative.

The north gate at Hougoumont

Waterloo, present-day Belgium / June 18, 1815

The north entrance stands open

The farm’s north gate served as a supply entrance. From inside the courtyard, the open gateway is an obvious weakness.

Shutting the gate

Guardsmen close the doors after a French party has entered, cutting it off from the troops outside.

AI reconstruction • Gate construction, the number of defenders and their positions are inferred.

Pegasus Bridge

Bénouville, Normandy / June 6, 1944

Gliders by the canal

The canal assault platoons came down close to the crossing. This view imagines the first moments on the landing ground.

The canal bank is held

British infantry establish a position at the far end of the intact crossing. The landing took place in darkness.

AI reconstruction • Night exposure is adjusted for legibility. Glider and bridge silhouettes are representative.

The ravine west of Hill 223

Châtel-Chéhéry, France / October 8, 1918

Flanking the guns

A patrol from Company G leaves the direct approach and works through the wooded ravine.

Collecting the surrendered weapons

The patrol has taken prisoners. Collecting arms and moving captives now occupy men who were sent to silence the guns.

AI reconstruction • The precise patrol route and prisoner count are disputed. Figures and kit are representative.

The recall at Gergovia

Gaul, present-day France / 52 BCE

The recall across broken ground

Caesar says some forward troops missed the recall. The fold in the slope illustrates how a message could fail to reach them.

Defenders at the wall

Gallic defenders concentrate near the wall as isolated Roman parties reach it. The exact gate and positions are reconstructed.

AI reconstruction • Caesar supplies the Roman account. The rampart and the defenders' viewpoint are reconstructed.

Cannae

Apulia, Italy / 216 BCE

The center projects forward

The advancing Iberian and Celtic center stands ahead of the African infantry on the wings. The first contact will come in the middle.

Pressure on the Roman rear

As African infantry turns against the flanks, Hasdrubal’s horsemen attack the Roman infantry from behind. This view follows one local attack.

AI reconstruction • Frontage, terrain, spacing and equipment mix are inferred. Neither image establishes a sealed ring.

Polybius • Histories III.113–117 Livy • History of Rome XXII.45–50